

FACULTY PARTICIPATION IN GRADUATE STUDIES

Introduction

Because of the evolution of TRU from a college to a university college, and then to a university, faculty members and Open Learning Faculty Members (OLFM) have a variety of credentials consistent with their original appointment. In becoming a university with developing graduate programs, TRU requires a mechanism for administering participation in graduate programs, while respecting the differences in credentials and career paths as the institution evolved.

Justification

- To maintain standards consistent with the university designation;
- To aim for inclusion by providing three entry points for faculty participation, and allowing for adjunct participation.
- To comply with TRU's accreditation requirements as members of the Canadian Association for Graduate Studies and the Council of Graduate Schools.

Graduate Instruction and Supervision

To participate in graduate studies, applicants must first be recommended by the appropriate Graduate Program Committee, then by the Dean, then by the GSC, then be approved by the AVP, Research and Graduate Studies under one of the categories below.

Faculty and OLFMs whose curricula vitae are to be included in new graduate program proposals must first be approved under these criteria before they can be included in a program proposal document.

Sessional faculty members who are qualified to teach in graduate studies will be appointed as either Graduate Course Instructors or Associate Graduate Instructors / Co-Supervisors for the duration of their appointment.
