

Formatting

Do:

- Double space the entire paper, including the Works Cited page.
- Set all four margins at 1 inch (2.5 cm).
- Use a legible font, such as Times New Roman, in 10 to 12 pt. size.
- Repeat the title at the top of the first page of text.
- Create a running head at the top of each page, with your last name and the page number in the top right corner, ½ inch from the top of the page.
- Number the pages with Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3 ...) beginning with the title page.
- Indent the first line of each paragraph.
- Leave one space after periods and other punctuation marks.

Don't:

- Justify the right edge of the text.
- Indent the first lines of a block quote.

Quotations

If a direct quote runs to less than four lines, put it in quotation marks:

Svendsen says that “[i]t is important that readers know when you are borrowing someone else’s exact words” (1).

If a direct quote runs to four or more lines, format it as a block quote:

It is important that readers know when you are borrowing someone else’s exact words. Otherwise, you may be accused of plagiarism, which is a form of theft. Students found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary action, possibly including expulsion from the University. (Svendsen 1)

In-text Citations

An in-text citation appears in the text of a paper to indicate that a source is being cited. It includes the last name of the author and the page range where the reader can find the information or quotation that is being cited:

... (Price 168-69).

If you mention the author's name in your text, just give the page range in parentheses:

Price claims ... (168-69).

If you're quoting someone other than the author of the book or article, use "qtd. in" or "quoted in":

Munro described herself as "... " (qtd. in Löschnigg 60).

One Author
