

FORMATTING

- All four margins should be between 1 inch (2.5cm) and 1.5 inches (3.8cm).
- Use 12 pt. Times New Roman font or Courier.
- Page numbers appear in the header (centred or right-aligned). Use Arabic numerals and start on the first page of text (after the title page) with the number 1.
- Double space the body text of the paper.
- Single space block quotations and table titles/captions.
- Single space entries in the bibliography, but add a line between entries.
- Footnotes and endnotes should have a half inch indent in the first line. Notes should be single-spaced but include a line between each note.

QUOTATIONS

If a direct quote is less than five lines, put it in quotation marks:

Svendsen says that “it is important that readers know when you are borrowing someone else’s exact words.”¹

If a direct quote is five lines or longer, format it as a block quote:

It is important that readers know when you are borrowing someone else’s exact words. Otherwise, you may be accused of plagiarism, which is a form of theft. Students found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary action, including possible expulsion from the University.¹

NOTES

Chicago Style can use either footnotes or endnotes. Footnotes appear at the bottom of the page, whereas endnotes appear at the end of the paper (but before the bibliography).

Footnotes/endnotes have long and short forms.

First Citation:

Use the long form. (These forms are marked number 1 in the Notes/References examples.)

Subsequent Citations:

Use the short form. The short form includes the last name of the author, the title (shortened), and the page number (if available). For example:

2. Dovey, "Reality TV," 136.

Repeated Citation:

If the source in a note is the same as the one in the note immediately preceding it, use the abbreviation "Ibid." Include the page number if it has changed, but omit it if it is the same page number. For example:

3. Ibid., 139.
